

This wine represents a pleasant blend of three well established Napa Valley varietals; Zinfandel, Merlot, and Sangiovese. The wine shows well today, and will continue to develop more completely with a year or two of bottle aging. Each grape contributes its own varietal characteristic: sangiovese for its spice and cedar nose, zinfandel for the soft and round texture on the palate. If you try hard enough, you can taste the three layers in the wine. This wine has enough tannin and backbone to stand up to Bar-b-que or softness to accompany your favorite tomato sauce.
